

Gosling, Bill

We were saddened by the passing of Brother Bill Gosling in April 2017 in his 11th season as an IATSE member at the Stratford Festival.

A very talented sound engineer who could often be spotted behind the Avon Theatre sound console, Bill was passionate about theatre – and musical theatre, for music was another of his enthusiasms. His constant good humour and happy disposition made him a pleasure to work with.

This 2017 season, he was working on HMS Pinafore and The School for Scandal, productions that benefited immensely from his talent, care and love of the theatre.

He passed away peacefully, with his partner Michaela and son Liam at his side, following a sudden illness. Our thoughts are with them, with his son Rowan, and with all his other family members and co-workers at this very difficult time.

Our 2017 production of HMS Pinafore, already dedicated to Richard McMillan, will now be co-dedicated to Bill.
